Lacombe AB, October 9, 2020 – As the Alberta Government continues to invest in roads this season, the ARHCA and Minister Jason Nixon (MLA, Rimbey-Rocky Mountain House-Sundre) join together to educate drivers and protect crews by providing Don't RIP Through Construction Zones signage to Central City Asphalt.

Central City was the winning bidder for the $4.5 million project in the Blackfalds area, as part of government's plan to ensure Alberta roads are ready for winter. By distributing safety signage, the ARHCA and government partners seek to encourage safe driving, so construction crews and drivers alike can get home safely.

“Alberta’s government’s commitment to improving the province’s transportation infrastructure doesn’t end at building roads and creating jobs for Albertans in the process. Routine maintenance and the promotion of worker safety are equally important to ensuring Albertans get where they’re going and get there safely. I’m so happy to partner with the ARHCA and with Central City Asphalt to keep workers and the motorists who use our highways safe.”

-Honourable Jason Nixon, Minister of Environment and Parks, House Leader

“The ARHCA is pleased to see government acknowledging the crucial role our industry plays not only in stimulating the economy, but also in ensuring our highways are in good condition. Since government’s significant investment means more crews on the road, we all need to do our part to make sure drivers and crews are safe. That’s what Don’t RIP Through Construction Zones signage is all about.”

-Ron Glen, CEO, ARHCA

“Central City Asphalt is proud to partner with Minister Nixon and the ARHCA to educate drivers in Alberta about road construction safety. With our paving work continuing into October, we need all drivers to watch out for our crews so we can finish our work safely and ensure the roads are ready for winter driving.”

-Wayne McLachlan, President, Central City Asphalt
